"Full disclosure: I have only tried this product a grand total of one time. However, so much did it impress me from that little test that I am fully and totally invested in its sure-to-be-cult status. Created by one of Germany's most revered dermatologists, this anti-aging cream features fern extract, which has been shown to protect the skin's cell DNA from damage as well as protect against environmental aging. It also has anti-inflammatory and antibacterial properties, making it great for those of us suffering from both wrinkles and acne (curse you, hormones!). All I know is that I smoothed this dreamy cream on my skin and fell head-over-heels in love with every aspect of it — the scent, the feel, and the way it made my skin look. I'm composing a haiku of devotion to it right now." — Megan McIntyre
